

Video: Jobs and Responsibilities

Transcript

HOST: We're here at Saint Luke's mall to ask the employees: What do you do at work? How about you, sir?

MAN 1: What do I do? Well, I'm a cashier. My name's Nick and I'm 20 years old.

HOST: Do you work all day?

MAN 1: No, I don't. I'm a part time cashier. I work in the afternoon. From 1 to 6 pm.

HOST: Do you like your job?

MAN 1: Yes, I do. I can study and work at the same time thanks to this job.

HOST: So, what's your answer over there. What do you at work?

WOMAN 1: I'm a chemist, or well... a pharmacist and I work part time here. Now I'm studying medicine.

HOST: Wow. That's nice. Do you work all day?

WOMAN 1: No, I don't. I work 6 hours, from 11 am to 5pm, then at night I go to university and start classes.

HOST: Do you like your job?

WOMAN 1: Yes, I do. But I have a lot of things to do, I check the quality of medicines and the customer's prescriptions. Also, I give them information and answer their questions about how to take them, and what reactions may occur.

HOST: And let's ask to this woman over there.... What do you do at work?

WOMAN 2: Hi! I'm Monica and I'm a shop assistant. I help customers to find what they need. Also, I provide information about prices and product availability.

HOST: Do you work on the weekend?

WOMAN 2: Oh yeah! My day off is Tuesday. I work from Wednesday to Monday. Including Saturday and Sunday.

HOST: How many hours do you work?

WOMAN 2: I work 8 hours plus an hour break.
